Current Mitsubishi mark
first appeared in 1910.

Yataro Iwasaki, the founder of the old Mitsubishi organization, chose the three-diamond mark as the emblem for his company. The mark is suggestive of Yamauchi Family Crest, Yataro's first employer, and also of the three-tiered water chestnut of the Iwasaki Family Crest.

The three-diamond Mitsubishi mark embodies nearly 150 years of tradition, earning the trust and confidence of people worldwide. Maintaining the value of that mark as a symbol of quality and reliability in products and services is a top priority at every Mitsubishi company. The name "Mitsubishi" refers to the three-diamond emblem.

"Mitsubishi" is a combination of the words mitsu and hishi. Mitsu means three. Hishi means water chestnut, and Japanese have used the word for a long time to denote a rhombus or diamond shape. Japanese often bend the "h" sound to a "b" sound when it occurs in the middle of a word. So they pronounce the combination of mitsu and hishi as mitsubishi.

2. WHAT IS THE MITSUBISHI TRADEMARK

1. What is the Mitsubishi Mark

Not only the graphic Mitsubishi Mark <  > but also <MITSUBISHI>, <三菱> (Japanese equivalent of “MITSUBISHI”) are Mitsubishi Marks.

With a corporate history nearly 150 years long, the Mitsubishi Group’s technology, quality and excellent services have earned a solid reputation. The Mitsubishi Mark<  > has played a crucial role in symbolising such excellence.

As a result, consumers have developed great trust in products and services bearing the Mitsubishi Marks.

MITSUBISHI MOTORS CORPORATION (MMC) plans to promote its brand strategy using the graphic Mitsubishi Mark <  > as the graphic element of its corporate mark and the words Mitsubishi Mark <三菱> in the corporate name.

The Mitsubishi Group, to which MMC is affiliated, has a long history.

The total number of companies in the Mitsubishi Group including MITSUBISHI MOTORS (see below), their subsidiaries and affiliates totals more than 450.

They all share the graphic Mitsubishi Mark<  >in their company emblems.

This graphic mark, therefore, has become a common asset of the group, and is not a trademark owned by the respective group companies, including MMC.

The group companies share an idea that the value and the credibility of the Mitsubishi Marks should be carefully maintained, managed and protected as a common asset of the group.

Under this idea, a Mitsubishi Name and Mark Committee was established as a dedicated organization to carry out this role.

5.1.2.2 Management of Mitsubishi Marks

5.2.1 LOGO HOW TO USE CORPORATE MARK

The corporate mark represents the brand of Mitsubishi Motors, both internally and externally. In order to unify the company's brand image, the basic format "  " must be used preferentially with the supplementary formats (i.e. 1 line/2 line horizontal marks). For this purpose, space including the isolation area indicated in 5.2.1 must be ensured for the creation of any materials.

However, when there is no freedom for space and to secure visibility, supplementary marks (i.e. 1 line/2 line horizontal marks) may be used under following circumstances.

Basic rule	 The basic format must be used preferentially in all materials
Exceptional case	Indicated space for mark
	Horizontal/vertical ratio 1:2~1:8 	Horizontal/vertical ratio 1:2~1:8

*Please contact the Sales Transformation & Brand Promotion Office when using the supplementary mark for cases other than the above.

5.2.1 LOGO GRID SCALES

To ensure that the corporate and communication marks are reproduced accurately, digital artwork or reproduction proofs of these marks are usually used. However, when you have to indicate the marks on large items, such as signboards, use the following grid scales to reproduce the marks as accurately as possible.

*Regarding text thickness:

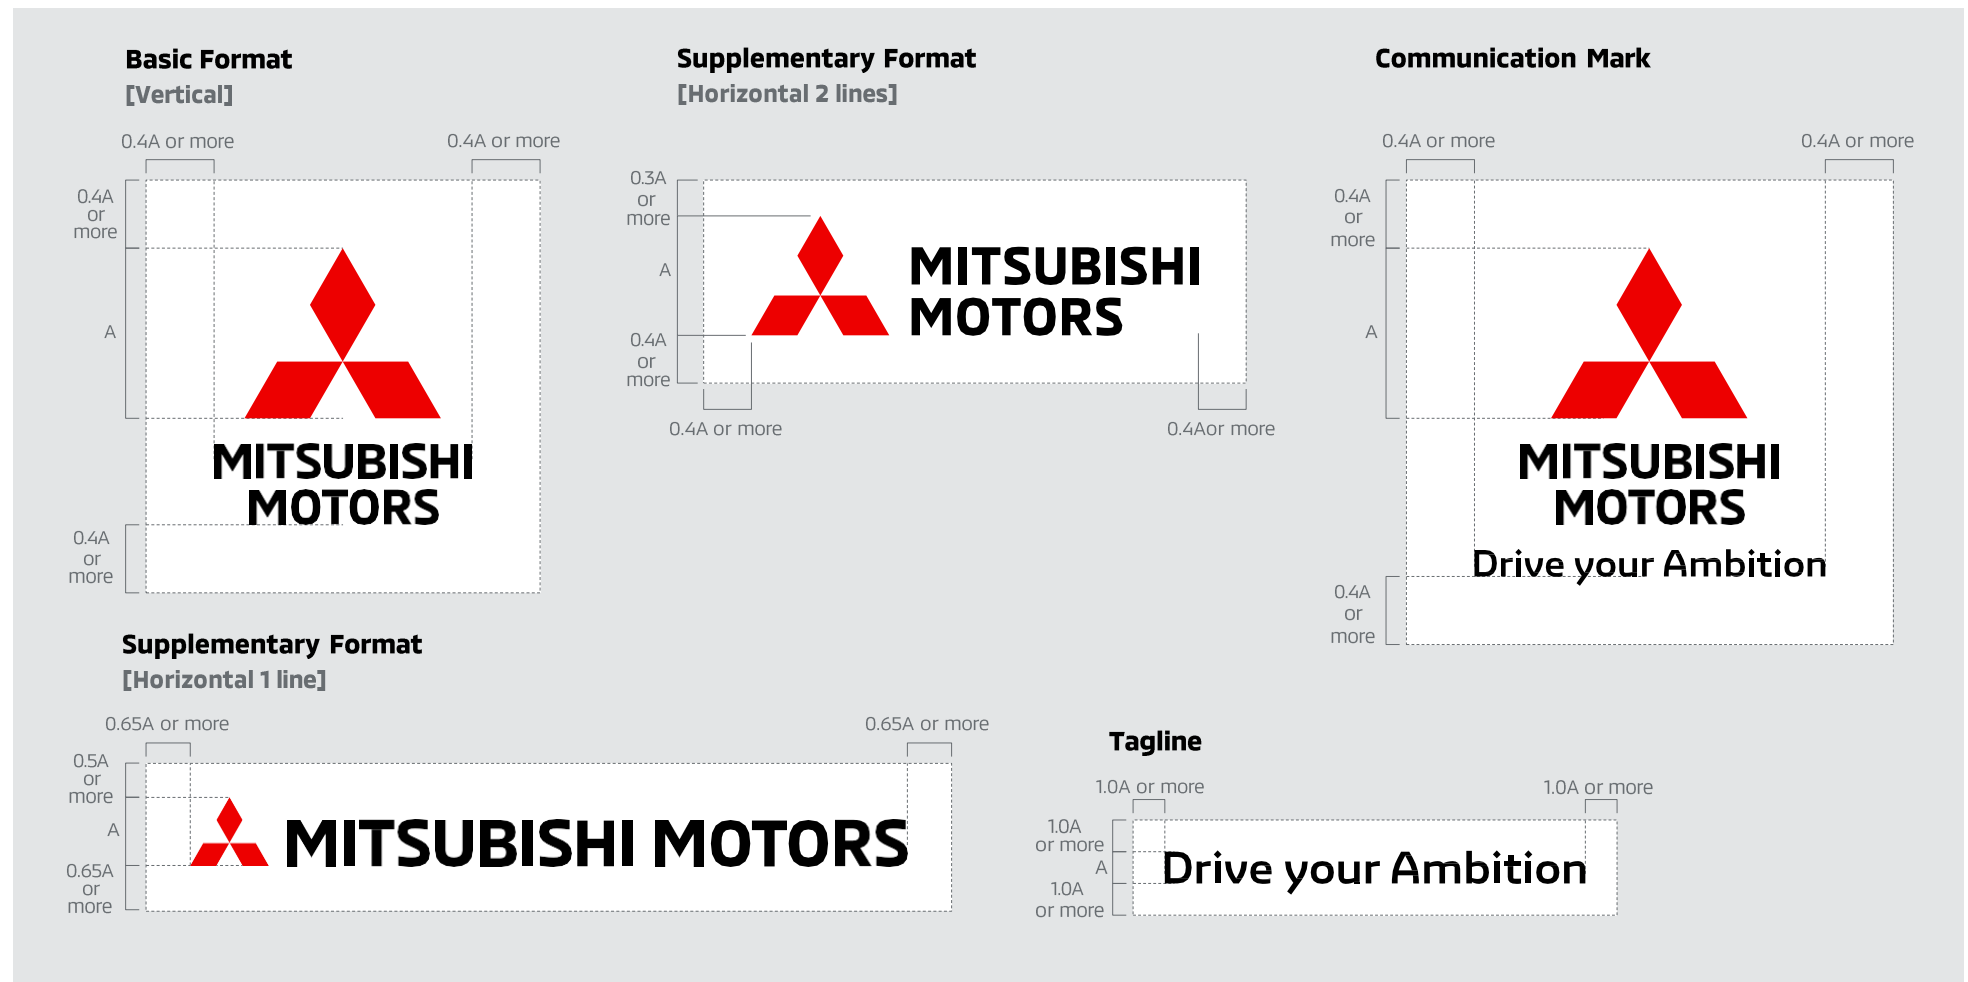

If there is limitation to reproduce accurate dimensions due to manufacturing method etc, the acceptability should be judged by checking actual product except for the extreme samples that may damage brand consistency as shown on the right.

Please contact the Sales Transformation & Brand Promotion Office.

5.2.1 LOGO AREA OF ISOLATION

The corporate mark, communication mark, and tagline must appear in such a way that their legibility is always ensured. To achieve this, certain areas of isolation must be provided around these marks and taglines, and no other design elements or text must be included within these areas.

The areas specified here are the minimum requirements, but try to provide the largest area of isolation possible for particular cases. *Specified otherwise for advertising media, such as newspapers, magazines and posters and three-dimensional items, including signs, signboards and vehicles.

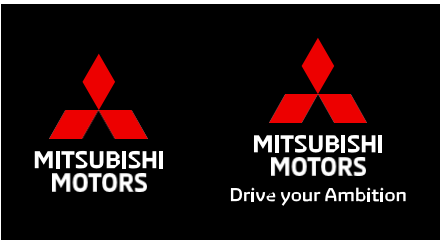

5.2.1 LOGO COLOR CONTRAST

The three-diamond symbol of the corporate and communication marks must always appear in MITSUBISHI MOTORS Red, with the brand logotype and tagline in black or white, depending on the background color. However, the single color/knockout (white) may be used only if red cannot be used due to restricted printing colors, etc. Some background colors may adversely affect the visibility of the corporate and communication marks. Therefore, this design system specifies four possible color patterns for the corporate and communication marks according to its background colors.

Single Color Knockout (white)

5.2.1 LOGO INCORRECT USE

The corporate and communication marks can only achieve their intended purposes when used correctly. Thus projecting the correct image of the MMC group.
